I would like to volunteer to help the Friends

THE FRIENDS OF THE AIKEN COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Friends of the Library (FOL) is a non-profit community organization of volunteers who promote the downtown Aiken County Public Library's position as an educational hub and learning center.

FOL recognizes the vital role the library plays in our community and strives to make the library the focal point for information services in Aiken.

All money from membership dues helps support, extend, and promote activities and services not covered by public library funding.

Contributions to the Friends of the Library are tax deductible.

Friends of the Aiken Library Endowment Fund

Recent projects of the Friends of the Library

- Donated more than $50,000 in the past five years to support library acquisitions and services
- Partnered to support the library's highly successful Summer Reading Program for kids and teens
- Sponsored workshops on using the digital library
- Funded additions to various library collections, both print and electronic, fiction and nonfiction
- Purchased materials for children's programs
- Supported programs for adults including discussion groups, authors visits and information events
